Spring into Growing 2016

Start the new year afresh with a school garden fit for growing healthy food, learning skills and sharing knowledge, whatever the size or space.

With our expert guidance, learn:

- the secrets to planning and constructing your school garden
- working with recycled materials and nature
- and developing a productive growing space
- with the help of your local community

Get a head start in your garden at the beginning of the year

Being prepared will have a long-term benefit on the quality and quantity of the food you grow, the capacity for students to learn, and the variety of curriculum subjects that can incorporate using the garden.

It can also help to provide students with ownership of the garden from start to finish, for year-long growing through all the seasons.
